Liberal Democrat leader Jo Swinson said Mr Johnson's popularity had been "off the scale". The Conservatives are now on course for an even bigger majority than at the election, having overtaken Labour in a YouGov poll. Concerns remain over the prime minister's Brexit plan and the economic impact of a no-deal exit, but he has never enjoyed a better start to a premiership, according to data from YouGov. Support for the Conservatives has risen to its highest point since last July, while Labour have dropped 8 points. Labour now has the backing of 33% of people who have formed an opinion of the party. 754eb5d184
